The following is the order for their punishment:—

SPECIAL ORDER—NO. 179.

HEADQUARTERS, DEFARTMENT OF THE GULF,
NEW OBLIAMS, July 10, 1862.

John H. Larue, being by his own confession a vagrant, a person without visible means of support, and one who gets his living by playing cards, is committed to the parish prison till further orders. Anna Larue, his wife, having been found in the public streets wearing a Confederate flag upon her person, in order to incite to riot, which act has already resulted in a breach of the peace, and danger to life of a soldier of the United States, is suit to Ship Island till further orders. She is to be kept separates and apart from the other women confined there.
By order of Major General BUTLER.

R. S. Davis, Capt. and A. A. A. G.

OTHER ARRESTS.

This case was hardly disposed of when we had one of a sharacter similar in the bitterness of the accused. In carehing for evidence against a man named F. M. Fisk, who was confined at Fort Lafayette last year and release on his parole, since when he has violated his parole the most flagrant manner, having been working for the Confederate States and army very earnestly, a letter was found, without any signature. This letter was full of the round, without any signature. This setter was full of the most rampant treason, and was a tissue of the most unreasonable lies from beginning to end. The letter concluded by saying that the writer had been with a lady who was insulted in his presence by a federal officer, and that he slapped the officer's face and kicked him, and then offered to meet him, but the officer this he (the writer) was "taken before Butler," tried, and ame near being sent to Fort Jackson. Suspicion of having written the letter fastened on a man named Edward right, and he was brought before General Butler.

GENERAL BUTLER AND WRIGHT, THE SECRESIONST.
The General asked him, showing the letter,

"Did you write that?", "Yes," said Wright.

Were you ever before me?"

Were you ever before any other United States officer?

The General then asked him if that story about slappin and kicking a federal officer was not a premeditated, ma icious ite.

"Weil," said Wright, "it isn't true." The General then had a full recantation of it written and asked him to sign it.

"I will never sign it," said Wright. Gen. Butler then wrote an order for Wright to be re-moved to the parish prison and to be hung the next

Wright declared, in the most approved style of the late smented Kirby, that he would die before he would sign the paper; and as he left the room he pointed at a pistol

"Major General Butler, you may put every ball of tha pistol through my brain, but I will never sign that

During the interview the General asked him if he was always ready to lie when it suited his circumstances. "Oh! of course," he replied; "to get out of trouble I would, the same as any other man would do."

Capt. Davis, Acting Assistant Adjutant General, who was present, suggested to him that it would be as well so speak only for himself.

WRIGHT RECAMPS.

Two hours after, while General Butler was at dinner, Captain Gros, keeper of the parish prison, came up to the house and said that Wright was ready to recant. Lieut Weitzel, A. D. C., took the paper down to the prison and the prisoner signed it. The secret of all his assumed age was, that he is a British subject, and imagined that he was as fully protected against "taking" General atler as he would have been against the smallpox if he had been successfully vaccinated. When this fancy was dispelled he concluded that it would be wise to make an effort to avert his terrible sentence. He remains in the parish prison, but has saved his neck.

ARREST OF WM. H. HENNING FOR KILLING UNION MEN.

A man named Win. H. Henning was arrested on Thursday under rather singular circumstances. An old German arrived at the city she was on the levce, and saw a crowd pursuing two men who had cried "Hurrah for Lin coln; he's the man to save the Union." That foremost in owd was Mr. Henning, who was shouting "shoot the God damned Lincoinites." That in a few minutes the rowd stopped, and on coming up she saw the two men ly ing on the ground—shot, one of them dead, and the other wounded. That Henning cursed the men and said he would ut his heel on their necks, and proceeded to do so, who the crowd prevented him, saying "The man is dead; that's enough." She did not see Henning fire; nor did she see him have any weapon. She stated that she had been very sick since, and that the dead man ras constantly before her eyes, and had made her so retched that she had determined to relieve her mind y reporting it to the United States authorities. Mr. pearance and his reputation are decidedly his favor; but the evidence of the woman was so very strong and decided that General Butler felt obliged to nit the prisoner to the parish prison for trial on street, and says he didn't even know that any such occur rence had transpired. He will be allowed every opportunity to prove his innocence, and I sincerely hope he

On representation of Mr. Dolan, agent of the Northern Bank of Kentucky, Judge C. T. Baveriey was brought be his possession, as Confederate States Marshal, bills o exchange to the amount of nearly a hundred thousand dollars, belonging to the above bank. He refused to give them up or even to admit that he had them. I think he was actuated more by an unwillingness to betray his trust than by any desire to defy the United States government. He was held in custody over night, and the mext morning handed the papers to a third party to be investigated, and was thereupon released. He is evi-dently a very honest, kind-hearted man, and held out as song as he could against secession, and, in his position ag

A peculiar case was before Gen. Butler yesterday. short time since a permit was given to the firm of Alvarez, Fernandez & Co. to take a schooner down to Ver milion Bay and get a cargo of cotton to bring up to New became suspicious that she was to be run to Havana Two officers boarded her, and, on searching her, found anifest, in Spanish, in which it was stated that she was to be cleared for Matanzas, Cuba, and also learned that she had been represented as a Confederate vessel. Capt. H. W. Morris, of the Pensacola, senior officer commanding Messrs. Alvarez & Fernandez and the pilot of the schooner brought before him. They stated that the manifest was bogus, and its object and their object in representing the vessel to be a Confederate schooner was to decrive the people at Ver-zmilion Bay, as, if they knew that the cotton was to be very likely have killed the owners. The General investigated the matter thoroughly, and as all the evidence tended to corroborate the above story, he suggested that the owners and Captain Morris (on the part of the navy) should agree to leave the case to Hon. Reverdy Johnson, as referee. Both parties being satisfied with this arrange-ment, Mr. Johnson will decide the matter, thereby saving the time and cost of sending the vessel and cargo to New York. There were one hundred and ninety-two bales of

I am sorry to state that General Butler has been some what unwell for a few days past; not so ill, however, as to prevent his attending to the business of his department. He will probably be all right in a day or two. His attack is one to which he has been subject ever since he came so near dying from being poisoned at that dinner at the National Hotel, in Washington, which proved fatal to so many prominent subscriber would earnestly ask the friends of this ent and his own to use their exertions to fill its regiment and his own to use their exertions to fill its ranks. Many of them can easily aid in so doing, as the service of cavalry possesses great advantages and attractions, and the theatre of operations in this department will give this arm peculiar chances for usefulness and fame. We in the field, unable to return to recruit, are compelled to look to friends at home to keep us effective compelled to look to friends at home to keep us effective by numbers. If each one who willingly would aid will bear the matter in mind till they have procured us one recruit, our ranks will be filled, and they will receive our deepest gratitude as well as do good to the service and cause. Massars. P. H. Drake & Co.—Gentlemes.—I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for three or four years. I have tried many, if not all, the remedies recommended for its cure. Instead of relief, I became worse, had to abundon my profession, and safered greatly from cverything I ate. Sy mind was much affected, depressed and gloomy. About three months ago I tried the Flantation Sitters. They almost immediately benefited ine; I continued their use, and, to my great joy, I am nearly a well man. I have recommended them in several cases, and, as lar as I know, aways with signal benefit. I am, very respectantly, yours,

CALISAYA, OR KING'S BARK

was unknown to civilization until the middle of the seventeenth century. The natives of Peru are generally supposed to have been long previously acquainted with its most wonderful medicinal qualities. Humbolist makes favorable mention of the febriruge qualities of this article as an antidote to fever and ague, niternitient and malarlous fevers, in his extensive South American travels.

The Countess, wife of the Vicency of Peru, having in her own person experienced the beneficial effects of the bark, leading the articles of the sark, leading the second of the return to Spain in the year 160, to have a frest harroduced this remedy into Europe. After its introduction it was distributed and sold by the Jeanits, who are said to have obtained for it the enormous sum of its weight in silver. From this circumstance it was called Sentites Powder, a title which is retained for many years. In 1658 we are told that an Englishman by the name of Sir John Tatiot employed it with great success in France, in the ireatment of rever and ague, dispensin, nervous affections, loss of appetite, weakness and debitity, palpitation of the beart, flaving acardy as 170 and much used as a substitute for Peruvisas syrup. It is employed as a gentle stimulant and tonic is a first particles of the stomach and bowder.
